Students Take Part In B. G. Airport Dedication Today

Movie Guild To Present Rise Of Motion Pictures

"The Motion Picture Guild", a subsidiary organization of Masque and Mantle, has just been formed, according to Prof. Elden T. Smith, speech instructor and adviser of Masque and Mantle.

One of the main purposes of the Guild is to make available to the students, a series of films that exemplify or illustrate the history, development and technique of the motion picture.

The exhibition of the Guild's programs is in no way to be compared to, nor is it in any way intended to compete with, the exhibition of motion pictures in local theaters. Its functions and activities are strictly non-commercial, and educational. However, in order to adequately finance these showings, it is necessary that a membership fee be charged. This fee will go to pay the general costs of operation, which include projector expense, film rental, and express charges.

The right to attend the exhibitions of the films is a privilege of membership. It is necessary to adhere strictly to admission by membership only, since the right to show these otherwise unobtainable films, was secured by the Guild from The Museum of Modern Art Film Library in New York City, solely under such conditions.

This semester, the Guild plans on showing the following pictures: "Duck Soup", featuring the hilarious Marx Brothers in a comedy tradition; seven issues of "The March of Time", 1935-1939; a program of Buster Keaton-Harold Lloyd comedies; the most celebrated of foreign films, "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari"; and the great picture, "Grand Illusion." If restrictions do not permit the showing of these films, others of equal rank will be substituted.

The cost of membership for this semester will be approximately 45 cents. This will allow the member admission to the series of the five above-mentioned programs. Membership fee sales will begin today with the Masque and Mantle in charge.

The first film will be shown Friday evening, October 23.

Activity Fee Distributed To Key-News

For the sake of uniformity with other campus groups, the name Board of Student Publications was changed to Publications Committee at a meeting of the group Thursday afternoon.

The committee voted to distribute 17.1 per cent of student activity fee money to the 1943 Key, university yearbook, and the remaining 10.2 per cent at its disposal to the Bee Gee News after payment of the Freshman Handbook bills.

Last year The Key received 16.7 per cent and The News 9.9 per cent, with the handbook being financed by Student Council from its fund.

The committee approved estimated budgets submitted by The Key and The News.

Prof. Jesse J. Currier, chairman of the journalism department, heads the committee, which also includes Dr. Paul Leedy, Dean A. B. Conklin, Paul W. Jones, Mary Elizabeth Beattie, Marshall Folts, Don Cunningham, and Dave Kroft.

Organizations Asked To Send Voting Candidate

All women's organizations on the campus are asked to send a voting candidate to the meeting of the Women's Centralized Committee at 4:15 p.m. Friday in the Rec Hall.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect a woman student to Student Council.

The following organizations are eligible to send representatives: Kappa Phi, WSGA, WAA, Five Sisters, Las Amigas, Treble Clef, Three Kays, Seven Sisters, Skols, Inter-sorority Council, Swan Club, Boots and Saddle, YWCA, Kappa Lambda Chi, Williams Hall, Shatzel Hall, and Alpha Phi Epsilon.

Dos Estudiantes de Sudamerica

Inter-American friendship is being fostered by these two exchange students from "south of the border." Jose Del Aguila, a Peruvian student from San Marcos University in Lima, is a newcomer to Bowling Green State University, and Carlos Cordova of Ecuador is here for his second year.

Forensic Groups Begin '42-'43 Debate Season

Forensic activities for the 1942-43 season are getting under way with the regular forensic squad meetings from 4:00 to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. The squad this year includes several veterans of last year's very successful group. Lee Miesle, Larry Kuhl, Mildred Geiger, Joan Smith, Robert Morgan and Marvin Pearce were active in last year's forensic program. McDona Sitterle has rejoined the squad this year, and Marilyn Smith, a transfer from Sioux Falls College, South Dakota is another addition. A number of speakers with less experience are also taking an active part.

This year a special group for freshmen and inexperienced students interested in forensics is being organized. To date some thirty members have been accepted, and others will be added to the group. Students interested in joining this organization should see Mr. Palmer or Mr. Jordan. The activities of this group will include: debate discussion, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and reading. Previous experience in these activities is unnecessary. The department wishes to extend the benefits of these activities to all interested students.

Forensics last year reached a new high with the men's debate team, Lee Miesle and John Bronson, ranking superior in the National Pi Kappa Delta Speech Tournament. John Bronson ranked excellent in extemporaneous speaking at the same tournament. Larry Kuhl and Carl Barch were undefeated in debate in the state tournament. John Bronson was a unanimous choice for first place in men's extemporaneous speaking, and Joanne Smith ranked third in the women's extemporaneous speaking event.

Plans for this year include participation in the State Women's Intercollegiate Debate Tournament on December 11 and 12, to be held at Columbus. The state contests at Wesleyan, the third Saturday in March, will include contests in interpretation, peace, oldtime oratory and extemporaneous speaking. The State Men's Debate Tournament will be held at Capital the first week in March, Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6. The Province Tournament of Pi Kappa Delta will be held the first part of April if conditions permit. This event provides contests in debate, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking for both men and women. In addition the squad will probably participate in several invitational tournaments during the forensic season.

At the meeting October 5, the Student Council decided that any organization currently associated with the University, providing it is worthy, is to be considered a legal association and in good standing. Contrary to past necessities such organizations do not need, if their constitution so reads, to present it to this new committee or other authorities for legalization.

In the future, organizations must present their constitution through proper channels in order to become a legal organization in good standing on the campus.

A new committee is now being organized by the Student Council under the title of the Organization Investigating Committee.

Attorney General Of Ohio To Speak At Ceremony

University Band To Lead Student Parade: Audrey Heslop To Reign As Queen

Several hundred university students will parade behind their band this afternoon to the new university airport for its dedication. Three o'clock classes will be dismissed.

Speakers on the brief program are to include Thomas Herbert, attorney general of Ohio; Dr. Frank J. Prout, university president, and Dr. H. J. Johnston of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Herbert and other members of the State Board of Control, which allotted funds for the purchase of the 120-acre field, are to attend the ceremony. Board members are to have lunch and a meeting at the Falcon's Nest.

The 40-piece uniformed band, led by Drum-Major Max Ihrig and five baton twirlers, will play "The Star-Spangled Banner" as the flag is raised at the start of the program and "God Bless America" at the conclusion.

The 9 Navy V-5 boys learning to fly at the airport will have charge of raising the flag and of showing visitors through the airport hangar.

Forming at 9 p.m. at the circle in front of the Administration Building, the parade will move north on foot by way of North College Drive and then east on Poe Road.

Banners will designate the dormitories, independents, fraternities and sororities. Marching will be by groups in alphabetical order.

Men's groups will meet between the circle and Wooster Street and women's groups between the circle and Thurston Avenue.

Blaine Ebert, president of Student Council, has charge of organizing the students.

The order of march for men is: Beta Gamma Upsilon, Delhi, Five Brothers, Independents, Kohl Hall, and Pi Kappa Alpha.

For women it is: Alpha Phi Epsilon, Five Sister, Kappa Lambda Chi, independents, Las Amigas, Phratra, Seven Sisters, Shatzel Hall, Skol, Three Kay, and Williams Hall.

Ray Vaughan of Findlay, flight contractor for the airport, will have several planes here.

"The navy cadets have chosen Audrey Heslop, sophomore from Martins Ferry and a resident of the Five Sister House, as their queen for the dedication."

Arrangements are being made for a speakers' and public address system.

Student Council Composed of Undergraduates

There is no graduate student on the council this year. There are seven graduate students at the University but all are taking only part-time work and are not eligible for a council position.

Prof. Elden T. Smith of the speech department is president of the Faculty Men's Club.

He was elected last week when Dr. Paul Leedy was named vice president and Prof. Samuel Woolsey was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Radio Players Will Broadcast Over WFIN Today

Tonight's radio program, which will be presented over WFIN by the University Radio Club at 5:30, will be a dramatic production, "The Shock." The cast includes Larry Kuhl, Bill Qualman, Ned Freeman, Marshall Folts, Marilyn Smith, and John Podorski.

A program of music will be presented Friday evening at the same time over WFIN. A string quartet composed of Miss Kerahner, Prof. M. C. McEwen, Wilma Bruer, and Jim Dunn will play several numbers.

Next Wednesday features a radio fantasy, "The Penny." All students who are interested in radio meet each Monday at 8:30. More students are urged to attend these meetings. Each radio program is the result of five hours of rehearsal. Staff announcers are: Michael D'Asaro, Lee Miesle, Ned Freeman, Carl Lewis, and Bruce Siegenthaler.

The Honorary Radio Club, which was started last year for outstanding members of the radio group, includes: Carl Lewis, Connie Rogers, Larry Kuhl, Michael D'Asaro, Georgia Anderson, Jo Lee Echelberger, Phil Miles, Lee Miesle, Marjorie Fitkin, Pat Schweitzer, and Bruce Siegenthaler. Larry Kuhl is president and Connie Rogers is secretary-treasurer.

Boot and Saddle Club Stages Novelty Horse Show Saturday

Boot and Saddle members are staging a gymkhana, an all-afternoon horse show at the Hedden School of Riding Saturday, October 17. Any student may participate in the gymkhana by paying 25 cents entry fee for each event he enters. Admission for the spectators is five cents.

The horse show, planned by the club for the purpose of making money for the scholarship presented to an outstanding rider each spring, will feature events of interest to every student whether or not he has ever ridden.

Novelty classes, in which a novice rider has as much chance of winning as has an experienced horseman, will be plentiful. There will be a potato race, a balloon contest, an obstacle race, a doughnut contest, a "saddle and go" class, and a pony express contest. Mr. H. G. Hedden, instructor of riding, will judge these novelty contests and the equitation classes. Prizes will be presented by the Boot and Saddle Club.

Several girls from the University of Toledo will participate in the show which will include a horsemanship class, hands and seat class, and beginners' contest.

Hot dogs and cokes will be on sale at the Hedden School which is located east of Kohl Hall. Dr. Rea McCain is sponsor of the group and Jean Harshman, Marjorie Evans, Mary Spooner, and Pat Howell are the officers.

John McNeill, who taught business administration here during the spring semester, has joined the faculty of the University of Richmond.

It has been called to our attention recently, that some of our college students have been quite handy with the scissors when they desire information from newspapers, magazines, and books in our University Library.

Although it is unbelievable that a student of college age would stoop to clipping articles from books and periodicals that are for his use alone, yet it is a fact that such vandalism is going on. A student may think that he is "getting away with something," and perhaps he is, but he is hurting other students by these acts much more than he is the Library.

It is, to say the least, very trying to copy page after page from a reference book or paper. It is, we will admit, much easier to simply clip the desired information and replace the book as though nothing had happened. However, the next student wishing to use the same material is greatly handicapped when he finds his information missing, and a ragged page telling the tale of what has really happened to the story.

True, such practices are distressing to Library officials, but there is little to be done in the way of discovering the vandal. The books and papers are there for our use alone, not for us to do with them what we will.

We are college students, why not conduct ourselves in the same manner? A few minutes more spent in copying, rather than clipping, our information will do much to increase the worth and value of our Library.—DK

On October 24 Bowling Green will hold its first Dad's Day. As this is the first time a Dad's Day celebration has been held in which the entire student body is invited to entertain their fathers on the campus, much of the success of such a venture will depend upon the students' co-operation.

The committee in charge has already announced its primary plans for the occasion. All fraternities, sororities, and dormitories will plan a special program for the day. There will be a football game between Miami and Bowling Green and the fathers will take over the Falcon's Nest as their headquarters for the day. In short, it should be a gala affair for all concerned.

That's the story so far! The rest is up to the students. Let's all get behind the committee and finish up the job with typical Bowling Green spirit. Let's make Dad's Day one of Bowling Green's most cherished possessions.—DK

You've read countless editorials on school spirit, you've heard hundreds of people rave about getting behind the team, and you've probably been told more than once to co-operate with the cheerleading squad.

Now we want to make one more suggestion—why not contribute new cheers for the cheerleading squad to use when we're getting behind the team to show our school spirit.

The cheerleaders have been doing a fine job but they need more material to work with. Most of our cheers were worn out long ago.

Possibly you have some pet cheers you remember from high school days or perhaps you have a flare for originality along that line. At any rate, it should be fun to try to get one of your cheers in use at the University.

If you can think of anything at all, bring it into the Bee Gee News office and we'll see that it gets to the people who are interested in those things.

It's your team, and your school, now let's have some of your cheers!—DS

Students at the University of Akron will receive ample warning via the new public address system which has been installed on the campus in case of an air raid. An attention call will precede the announcement, in order that no speaking time need be lost. The call is a high piercing note, which can be heard even at high noise levels. The speaker may talk to one building, any group of buildings, or to all at once. Later the system will be utilized for announcements.

For the draft board—just right!
—The Campus Collegian

The Grove City Collegian wonders why some parents send their daughters off to college because college education for women, it claims, is futile. If they are pretty, it's unnecessary; if they are not, it's inadequate!

At Kent State the question is, to wear slacks or not. The professors there believe that slacks are all right in their place but their place is in sports, not in the class room. Dr. G. B. Sherrer, professor of English, says, however, "What women wear doesn't matter. It's what's in their heads that counts."

The results of the physical examinations given entering freshmen women at Miami University show that the women enrolling there this year are on the average of three times weaker than women previously enrolled. Maybe their resistance is lower too, fellows. . . .23 SKIDOO!

BETTY NEEB

Take a dash of six-foot one of quiet smoothness, add a casual grace, a ready grin, and a jovial personality, and what have you? Joe Fox, senior dynamo and a real spark of Bowling Green State University.

The modest Joe hails from Port Jefferson, Ohio, where he was graduated from Sidney High School. His 21 years of zestful living have included, however, Van Wert County, Huntington, Ind., and Tedrow, Ohio, the former claiming the birth patent on Mr. and Mrs. Fox's little bundle of joy.

Joe finds delving in activities a three-ring riot. That probably accounts for his successful venturing as a member of B. G.'s basketball combination, the Varsity Club, the Five Brother Fraternity, and head man of the senior class.

The versatile Mr. Fox is enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts where he is majoring in biology and physical science.

With regard to a future life, Joe is planning on attending a school of embalming. With his eye on said future, Joe executed a bit of his talent this summer, grave digging at a local marble orchard.

"The sun gave me a good tan," Joe commented, "but, frankly, I found the work a little dead. Believe me, I carried them away with my service."

Joe's wrath hits sky-high at the mention of egg plant, Rubino hair-cuts, zoot suits, and the arsenic-and-old-lace type of woman.

However, athletics, crew-cuts, bright colors, and energetic people are strictly on the must-list of this man of the hour.

Sailing, swimming, hiking, and ornithology (he gave us the bird here) are all pet diversions of little Joe.

Joe is in the Army Air Force Enlisted Reserve and cherishes a hope of becoming a high class weather prophet in the ground crew shortly after graduation.

"You know, I'll bet you never knew I was the youngest of five P.K.'s" This remark stimulated

Misadventures With Miesle

Moral: Don't Blind Date Or You'll Wish You Were

BY LEE MIESLE

Gad, but that was a nerve-racking sight! Never will I forget the look on that poor fellow's face as he slunk across the campus lawn. I stopped my digging for ground moles and looked incredulously at his features. Tears—the bitter tears of humiliation—coursed down his countenance. His salty liquid had drenched his tie and caused it to run, dyeing his shirt a sort of passionate pink. His fists were tightly clenched at his sides, and curious bumps on his shoes told me that his toes were curled up inside the feet sachels.

I threw away my digging tool (a soup ladle), and, leaving the moles in peace, strode toward him. My first words showed, I think, my wonderful capacity for diplomacy, and revealed the innate kindness that is so much a part of me.

"Hello," I said.

He paused, pulled an old tablecloth from his watch pocket and wiped his eyes despondently.

"Hello, old pal," he returned. "What's the matter, chum, did you have some money on the Yankees?" I inquired.

A shuddering sob wracked his body, causing it to quiver like a plate of melting Jello. "No, no, nothing as simple as that. You see—" and here a look of unbelievable horror came into his eyes—"I just came from a blind date."

"I trust you found it an unhappy experience," I said consolingly.

"Unhappy!" He threw his arms skyward, tore a handful of hair from his head and screamed, "Unhappy, he says! My friend, that is a masterpiece of understatement. Never in all my life have I seen anyone as homely as she! Her face—eek!" He grew pale as a little shriek escaped from his lips, and he began to chew his fingernails. "Once I thought that Edna Mae Oliver was homely, but now I think she's beautiful!"

"A bit of a goon, eh?" I remarked helpfully.

"Don't insult the goons," he snapped. "Her nose—it seemed to be suffering from indecision. First it started straight down—then straight out—then it curved like one of Feller's twisters toward her chin—then it changed its mind again and shot straight up. It looked as if it had been broken in seventeen different places and only set in ten. And what eyes! One looked at the ceiling, the other at the floor. She had glasses on so powerful I could see pixies dancing on Mars with them. Her mouth nearly touched each of her ears. And those eyebrows! She'd plucked them so they formed the Morse signal for 'V'. But she was evidently trying to improve her complexion. At least it looked as if she had a mud pack on. But her figure—she walked like Charlie Chaplin and looked as if she'd been riding a fat horse for twenty years without letup."

I admit I felt a bit peeved. "I have found that homely girls usually have a fine personality and a wonderful disposition to compensate for their lack of pulchritude," I observed.

"Not this one! She giggled. She punched me in the ribs every five seconds. She was so dumb she thought that chicken pox were something you sewed on hen's aprons, and that horse radishes were regular radishes with sore throats."

Apparently exhausted by his outburst, he fell silent for a moment, breathing hard. Then his reddened eyes narrowed, and he drew a big, black gun from his pocket. "Now I'm going to get even with the guy who told me that his girl's friend from back home was a queen!"

"Is it loaded?" I quavered.

"No, but I'm going over to the water faucet and load it right now. Well, hello!"

He strode purposefully across the lawn, blowing his nose gustily on his shirt tail. I smiled to myself, thinking how lucky I was to be number fifty three on the list of that nice freshman. I looked at my watch. Dammit. The blamed thing had stopped.

my opinion

LARRY KUHLE

It was just three years ago this fall that the University Players produced Irwin Shaw's powerful anti-war play, "Bury the Dead." Despite the fact that pacifist feelings were at a high peak then, the production could hardly, as some of you may remember, have been classified as a success. The blame could not be placed with the cast, the direction, nor even with the play itself. Plainly and simply the failure of the production was the fault of a highly immature audience which insisted upon laughing at serious scenes, and in general displaying no more intellect (or even a sense of decency) than one would expect to find in a high school freshman.

Strange it is, then, with the memory of this experience not too faded, to find that plays such as "Outward Bound," "Family Portrait" have been successfully produced with no such unfortunate reception; and that currently in rehearsal is a show of different philosophy, but one employing substantially the same devices and one equally as serious as "Bury the Dead." Why were the two above-mentioned shows received favorably? How can a college director hope to produce a play such as "Eve of St. Mark" and be sure it will be received as a serious dramatic effort?

The answer to both of these queries lies in the fact that the theatre is not merely a source of entertainment, but one of the most powerful of all educational devices. It was only in the early twenties that this fact was re-discovered. The result was the greatest increase in theatrical work at high schools and colleges throughout America, and the development of what we know as the community theatre. The results in many cases have been both amazing and beneficial.

Here on the campus of Bowling Green, for example, through a gradual conditioning process, students have come to appreciate plays of a serious nature and to understand those that carry a message. Whereas in the not too distant past only plays of the "Room Service" or "Male Animal" type were assured of a favorable student reaction, now a "Family Portrait" or "Eve of St. Mark" can enjoy similar success. Thus has been demonstrated the possibility of what psychologists or educators would call the "possibility of raising the cultural level of the student."

But we would be guilty of a gross injustice if we considered this an end in itself; for the implications of this accomplishment are almost limitless. Consider it from an educator's standpoint. It would require an extremely colorful lecture in sociology to make certain social problems as vivid and poignant as they would be in a play by Ibsen or Gorky. What text in economics would present the problems of class struggle so graphically as "The Machine Wreckers"; or what instructor in philosophy could aspire to make the question of "What is Truth?" so vital as Pirandello?

Far be it from me to suggest that each student who comes to see the dramatic productions come with the idea of taking notes and being tested on his ability to digest what he experiences. Nothing could be more inimical to the educational features of the theatre than any comparable approach. Rather let him come with the idea of being entertained, and enjoying to the utmost what he sees. But let him too give a little thought to the messages he hears in the play. Unconsciously, perhaps, but none the less effectively, he is going to learn something new, possess some new ideas and attitudes. This is the true value of the school theatre made apparent.

Fraternity Men Are Honored; Kohl Hall Sponsors Dance

BY PAT SCHWEITZER

Something new and different has been added to this season's social calendar. An all fraternity nickelodeon dance will be held in the recreation hall Friday night from 9 until 12. All fraternity men and their guests are invited to come and join in the fun. For you independents we suggest—you've guessed it—the Nest. It's a swell place to idle away those Friday evening hours. But let's see all those Five Brothers, Delhis, Beta Gammmas, and PiKA's with their charming dates swinging it out in the rec hall.

The boys over Kohl Hall way are happy to announce that an all campus dance will be held in the Women's Gym Saturday night from 9 until 12. The Kampus Kats will furnish those "You Made Me Love You" rhythms. The committee in charge is Bob Desseker, general chairman, Paul Smythe, Stu O'Hara, John Fisch, Paul Myron, Jim Mauer, Jim Wright, Jack Conkel, and Ray Clingman.

So remember, students, life begins at 9 in the Women's Gym.

ALPHA PHI EPSILON

The Alpha's Freshman Rush Tea will be held at the sorority house, 321 East Court Street, Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. The refreshment committee is Elizabeth Pontius, chairman; Helen Henkleman, Elizabeth Hornyak, and Polly Urey. The decoration committee is Ruth Lesser, chairman, Phyllis Tekonic, and Virginia Keller.

FIVE SISTERS

Plans for Homecoming are being made, and the following committees have been appointed: General Chairman, Ethel Zimmerman; food, Marietta Kershner, Jane Brumby, and Ann Rothenberger; decorations, Martha Jane Davidson, Cornelia Rogers, Marianne Bell, Eulalia Moellman, Mary Lou Shelton, and Dorothy Ellen Wright; flowers, Carol Wilson; art designs, Nancy Hutchinson, Virginia Dalton, Pat Schweitzer, Helen Leu, and Grace Pietschman.

KAPPA LAMBDA CHI

Phyllis Kline has been appointed chairman of homecoming activities, and Margaret Miller chairman of the food committee.

LAS AMIGAS

Plans are now underway for the Masquerade Ball, October 24, which promises to put the "spooks" on Miami's football team. Committees are: decorations, Mary Holt, Phyllis Davis, Jean Mersereau, and Rene Wiedleman; refreshments, Kay Smith, and Betty Zimmerman; band, Virginia Kurts, and Kay Walters; invitations, Janet Holtmeyer, and Martha Lown.

PHRATRA

Phratra Sorority has taken over the Lounge in the Woman's Building for its meetings. Its tea was held there last Sunday and proved to be very successful.

Last Tuesday night formal initiation for two pledges, Frances Young, and Virginia Forney, was held in the lounge.

Plans were made for a booth at the Homecoming dance, and a buffet supper for alumni to be held at the home of Miss Grace Durrin.

SKOL

The Skols will hold their tea for freshmen and upperclassmen who are interested in rushing Sunday. All potential rushees are invited to attend. Tedca Arnold is chairman, Dorothy Boskey has charge of refreshments and Martha Jordon of reception. On October 15 the group will hold an exchange dinner with the Seven Sister Sorority. Six girls of each group will be entertained at the alternating houses. An exchange dinner is also slated to be held with the Five Sister sorority, the

Good Time For Fathers Is Planned

Plans are gradually developing for Dads' Day, according to Marvin Pearce, general chairman of the program. Dads' Day will be inaugurated here October 24, when the dads of the University students will have their first chance to meet other students, faculty members, and in general to have a good time.

The highlight of the day will be the football game between Miami University and the Falcons. Pearce said that plans are being made to have each fraternity and sorority entertain with a dinner for the fathers after the football game.

Bowling Green merchants, Pearce said, have promised to cooperate in decorating their stores and the business section.

Plans for several other big events are being planned but are not yet ready to announce, Pearce concluded.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Extensive plans are now being made by the PiKA's in way of the annual homecoming celebrations. Max Hanke, chairman of the band committee, has engaged Will Keating to supply the rhythm for the dance to be held in the Rec Hall. Jack Wilhelm has been appointed chairman of decorations committee.

Plans for Dad's Day at the PiKA house have been placed in the hands of Wayne Collier, Lee Meisale and Stanley Zelaski.

Bob Panning has withdrawn from school and will soon be departing for the Army Air Corps.

Plans are now being made to initiate into Pi Kappa Alpha all Commoner alumni who return to the campus Homecoming weekend.

Dances Accent Homecoming

All campus organizations are busily planning their part in the annual Homecoming celebration to be held October 30-31.

The dances Friday night will be held in both gymnasiums, the Underclassmen being entertained in the Women's Gym, while the Upperclassmen and Alumni will dance in the Men's Gym.

French Club Makes Plans For Year

The Pi Xi chapter of Beta Pi Theta, national French honorary, held its first meeting of the year in the Recreation Hall last Wednesday evening. Newly elected officers are as follows: Joyce Clifford, president; Marilyn Traver, vice president; Martha Lown, secretary; Virginia Hines, treasurer; Florence Shreve, leason; Dorothy Boskey, corresponding secretary; Mary Jane Wilson, publicity chairman; Ed Lautner, sentinel; Grace Chapin, music.

The meeting time has been changed to 7 o'clock on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. Plans concerning the year's program were made.

Students Urged to Use Falcon's Nest

Greater use of the Falcon's Nest by student organizations was urged Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the Student Union Committee.

The group reaffirmed its policy of last year in welcoming student organizations to meet in the north lounge and have exclusive use of the main room between the hours of 5:30 and 8:15 p.m.

Three Sororities Entertain At Initial Rush Parties

The first stage of sorority rushing went into effect October 4 when three of the sororities held teas open to all freshmen women and transfers. The Phratra sorority held its tea in the lounge of the Women's Building with Miss Durrin pouring. Roses and chrysanthemums made up the decorations. The Five Sister Sorority entertained in the lounge of the Five Sister house which was decorated in autumn flowers. Mrs. Irene Moores, Miss Helen Henderson, Martha Loudenslagel and Carol Gamble poured while music was furnished by Virginia Dalton, Jo True and Mary Jane Wilson. The Kappa Lambda Chi sorority had its tea at the Kappa house on North Summit. The girls made favors with the sorority name on them.

Last Sunday three more of the sororities opened their houses to the freshmen. The Las Amigas Sorority entertained in its quarters above the infirmary with Mrs. Shields pouring. The room was decorated in autumn colors while each sorority girl wore bittersweet and the freshmen were presented with baby chrysanthemums. Mrs.

Litherland Asks Aid To Children

Americans have a responsibility to all people and a concern for all children, Dr. Herschel Litherland, director of student teaching, informed Kiwanians at their luncheon meeting Thursday.

"This is a cooperative task that is too big for our schools, homes, and churches. It requires the help of every organization interested in human welfare," the speaker contended.

"People are important. All should have the proper respect. Forty-three million boys and girls in American schools need our help.

"The American way and the American spirit have developed with respect for the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Dean To Speak

Ball State Falls Before Falcons Late Period Drive

Orange And Brown Seek Third Victory Of Season

Playing in the first intersectional game of their schedule, Bowling Green's Fighting Falcons downed a courageous band of Ball State Cardinals, before a homecoming crowd of 1,000 shouting fans. For two quarters the Falcon's played listlessly and the Ball Staters were ahead at half time 7-6.

Taking the field again in the third period, the Cardinals of Ball State drove down the field for another score. Donovan scooted through the entire Bowling Green defense for 80 yards and touch-down. The extra point was booted to make the score 14-6, Ball State leading.

The Falcon mentor then sent in a fresh backfield, and two minutes later the Falcons scored their second touchdown of the game as Babcock let go a beautiful pass to Ingraham for a touchdown. Babcock's try for extra point was no good. The Ball Staters still leading 14-12.

Taking advantage of several breaks in the fourth quarter the Falcon's tallied twice more before the final crack of the gun. On a sustained drive of 52 yards the orange and brown, with Lowery totting the pigskin, tallied for their third score and taking the lead for

SULLY SAYS

By JIM SULLIVAN

One of the highlights of intramural activities will come tonight when the Delhi and Five Brother touch-football nines clash on the local gridiron. The Fives and Delhis are tied for first place by virtue of two straight victories and the meet should bring all the old fraternity rivalries to life again. The twice defeated Beta Gammas and PiKA's will tangle tonight to complete the Fraternity schedule for this week.

In last week's games, wins were worked in the Fraternity league by the Delhis over the Beta Gammas and the Fives over the Pi Kappa Alphas. The Brenner Bulls captured their second win of the season in the House-Dorm league as they rallied in the last quarter to down the Bulldogs 19-7. The Bruisers crept back into the win column by virtue of their close 2-0 win over the Wolf Pack. Leading the House-Dorm league is the Brenner Bulls aggregation with two wins and no defeats and trailing them are the TNT's with one victory and no defeats. On Thursday's card for House-Dorm games, the TNT's will meet the Bruisers and the Bulldogs are pitted against the luckless Wolf Pack.

The University Rifle Club will hold its first meet of the year at 7:30 in the basement of the Practical Arts building. Rifles are to be furnished free for participants but it will be necessary for individuals to buy their own ammunition, which will be on sale at the range tonight. This is an intramural activity and participation points will be awarded towards the All-College championship trophy.

Twenty-two entrants are now competing in the spirited Kohl Hall table tennis tourney. The Intramural Department is working extensively on programs for members of Kohl Hall only. Included in the plans is the Kohl Hall swimming meet, basketball league and many touch-downs for individual sports.

Plans are already being made for the annual Intramural wrestling tourney. Tentative dates for the meet this year are December 7, 9 and 10th. Training periods are already made for those planning to enter the meet this year. Wrestling lessons are being given by members of the varsity team each Wednesday evening at 4 p.m.

All Phys. Ed. majors should take notice of the Intramural Administration course that will be offered by the IM department. Director Thomas has quite a program established and anyone desiring to enter the class should contact him at the IM office in the men's gym.

Opening play in the fraternity handball league will begin tonight when the Beta Gammas and Five Brothers tangle on one court and the Pi Kappa Alphas meet the Delhis on the adjacent square.

the first time in the game. Marazon's try for extra point was good, bringing the score to read Bowling Green 19, and Ball State 14. Bowling Green then kicked off to Ball State and on four plays the Staters lost a total of four yards. Bowling Green then took the ball and on the fourth down were forced to kick, Speicher kicking the ball over the goal. Ball State then took to the air in the closing minutes of the game in an attempt to overcome the Falcons. On the second play Babcock intercepted a Ball State pass and ran to the Ball State 16 yard line. From this point a lateral from Sielschott to Lowery went over for the final score of the game. The try for extra point was good. The final score reading Bowling Green 26, Ball State 14.

Bloker, Bordner, Babcock, Lowery, Ingraham, and Williams played brilliantly for the Falcons.

To add to the sweeping victory, Bowling Green's cross country team easily defeated the Ball Staters 18-39. The three and one-half mile course was easily ran by the Falcons. This is the first meet of the season for Coach Glander's boys.

Elmer McDonnal, Ralph Boroff, and Clarence Hicks all tied for first place, breaking the course record by one minute. Time 19 minutes and 31 seconds.

Falcon Captain

Ralph Quesinberry, senior center from Tiffin, Ohio, is the spirit captain of the Bowling Green State University football team.

Glander's Hill And Dale Men Meet Michigan Normal Saturday

"Bowling Green's cross country team has great prospects this year if the team comes out to practice regularly and does its best," declared Coach Joe E. Glander last week. The two regulars from last year's squad have been augmented by nine freshmen and sophomores, all of whom show great promise, he said.

Ralph Boroff, who placed second last year in the Ohio Conference meet, and Claire Forest are the only lettermen of this year's squad. The nine new men have all had intensive experience on the high school and college track.

New members include Elias Toplansky, Elmer McDonnal, former state high school champion, Clarence Hicks, Dave Berke, George MacDonald, Ned Robinson, Harry Schendle, Norman Westen, Franklin McCoy.

The schedule this year will include six dual meets in addition to the A.A.U. meet. The itinerary includes meets with Michigan Normal, October 17, here; Case School of Applied Science, October 24, here; Toledo University, October 31, here; Oberlin, November 7, here; and Toledo University, November 14, there.

The state A.A.U. meet will be at Miami University this year. The conference meet is scheduled for November 31 and there is a chance that it will be at Bowling Green, said Coach Glander.

While Bob Whittaker, the Falcon mentor, puts the finishing touches on his grid machine for the annual encounter with Wayne University, a majority of the Falcons' future opponents put in busy weeks in an endeavor to cut their individual niches in national football's preponderous record book. One of the notable games was the battle between Findlay College and Kent State University. Both Kent and Findlay have good teams this year, but Findlay lost to Kent State, 6-0. Kent State has lost to Toledo University. Miami "Redskins" have shown great power in winning from Centre College and losing to a highly regarded Dartmouth team. Wayne University has played two major opponents, losing both of them to Detroit University and Michigan State. Wittenberg's "Red Devils" have played just once, losing to Wooster. So you can see the Falcons have a very hard piece of work cut out for them.

We see the Five Brothers show no respect for the Pi Kappa Alphas in touch football as young Bob Berardi is sporting a broken collar-bone as a result of the Fives' victory over the Pi Kappa Alphas. This is the second time within a year that Bob has suffered a broken collar-bone as a result of playing football.

We would like to say that this columnist believes that school spirit and loyalty to our sport teams would be greatly enlivened if we had sport rallies. I have not been a member of the student body as long as some of you, but I understand that for years it has been customary to have a pep rally before every game, whether the game was at home or abroad. Come on students, support all future teams and rallies. As you probably don't know, the cheerleaders do not receive any reward for their efforts.

Having called a few of the upset games for the last two weeks, your reporter goes out on the limb again. This Saturday finds some rather interesting games.

Bowling Green Mermen Prepare For Season's First Meet

Swimming practice started last Monday afternoon as Coach Joe Glander sent his charges through rigid training in gymnastics to develop the right sort of muscles for good swimming and diving.

Veterans returning from last year's varsity and freshmen include: Kenny Kost, Phil Hodes, Paul Stark, James Gorby, George Spangler, and Bill Holzaphel. This season's squad will also be bolstered by incoming freshmen, including five boys from Connecticut.

New men out for this season's team will be: Kiggins, Sandusky, Meriam, Stubbs, Murray, Booth, Podgorski, Fish, Moulard, Hill, Racz, and Fox.

Official swimming practice will begin October 15.

Anderson Calls First Try-Outs

Coach Harold Anderson announced late last week that the first try-outs for basketball will be held at 7:30 tonight. He requested all players to bring their own equipment.

Because a large number of players are expected to report, it will be some time, Coach Anderson said, before he has the regular squad picked out. He added that he would have scrimmage practice to aid in eliminating all but the best players.

When asked what the prospects were for this year's team, Coach Anderson said that "he was new to the boys and the boys were new to him. Only time will tell."

No definite schedule has been set as yet, he concluded.

HAMBURG

Bowling Green's Falcons again take to the road for the third week in a row, meeting Wayne University in Detroit Saturday. The game with Wayne has become an annual affair between the two schools, Bowling Green winning eight of the nine games played to date.

This year Wayne has yet to score their initial victory of the season and will be out to avenge a lacing they received from the Falcons last Thanksgiving Day. To date they have been defeated by two very strong teams from Michigan, namely, Detroit University and Michigan State. Definitely stepping out of their class all together they have shown a great deal of courage against such superior opponents.

Bowling Green must play head-up football if they want to return home on Saturday night with their third victory of the season. The Falcons to date have not performed

Flying Cadet Personalities

Sandy-haired, smiling Harry "Ben" Adams of Detroit, a former student of Bowling Green, is one of the eight Naval Air Cadets in training at the University. Although he enlisted in the Naval Air Corps while enrolled here last May, he was not called for training until September 7.

Ben says that women are his weakness, but he doesn't have much time for them because of the strict schedule the cadets follow. The boys get up at seven and after their breakfast at the Nest have classes until eleven. They spend their afternoons flying. Before their six-o'clock dinner there is physical training, wrestling, swimming, and track. The cadets have evening classes until nine. Their lights are out at eleven.

Ben has studies in navigation, code, identification of aircraft, physics, meteorology, military science, and discipline. He expects to make a career in the Navy and says he is quite "anxious to get in there and take a crack at those Japs or kraut-eaters." The boys say the most difficult thing in the flying end of their course is the landings. The ground is every place but where they think it is.

The fellows are grateful to the Skols for inviting them to their house party and believe that the Skols are "very pretty and hospitable."

ed in their last two games with Ohio Wesleyan and Ball State like they did against the Miami Naval Training School in the season's opener four weeks ago. It has taken late period fight and determination to pull the games out of the fire. Against Ball State the Falcons looked completely outclassed for two quarters only to come back to life in the final half to sweep the Ball Staters off their feet.

The game is scheduled to get under way at 2:15 p.m. on Saturday in Detroit. The show of spirit on the part of the students may mean the difference between victory and defeat.

To date several of the frosh have shown great promise, and don't be too surprised to see the starting line-ups in the future containing some of these boys.

Falcon Sports For Femmes

The WAA is sponsoring a carnival on November 20, with Georgia Frericks and Jean Watt acting as co-chairmen.

Virginia Corson will head the Outing Club, a new organization whose primary functions will be hikes, over-night trips, and bike rides. All women on campus are eligible.

Plans are being formulated for the dance for Homecoming with Arlene Fisher in charge. The main event will be the crowning of the queen.

On October 7, the Socceros, whose captain is Ann Rothenberger, defeated the Jeeps, headed by Marj Ripley, in a soccer game. The score was 4-1. The game scheduled for October 5, was called off on account of rain.

The Junior Columbia Round was shot on October 7, with the following results:

NAME	Score	Place
Virginia Smith	67-423	1
Peg Benroth	68-409	2
Marg Craig	66-379	3
Lois Bentley	68-361	4

The postal archery meet is in full swing with Baldwin Wallace, Hiram, Toledo, Ohio Northern, and Bowling Green participating.
